

Figure S1. Double-compartment fermentation system consisted of two glass chambers with loose screw cap, separated by a 0.45 μm membrane filter. The filter membrane allows the exchange of metabolites keeping separated cells belonging to two different species.